

HELIUM

The main theme in Helium, Omexco's latest range of non-woven wallcoverings, appears as soon as you open the pattern book: large-scale retro designs, sixties/seventies flavoured, light as a feather, in spite of their large pattern repeat.

Is wallcovering old-fashioned? Helium proves to be the opposite. Omexco invites the readers of their pattern book in a fantastic world of bubbling and whirling lines, forming multicoloured stripes, ellipses, huge squares....

At least as daring as the designs are some of the colours: flashy orange, fluorescent yellow, shocking red...

Of course some more sober designs and colours have been used as well to complete the range, and to make it possible to decorate one wall or panel with a very strong design and colour, and soften the all-over aspect of the room by using a matching plain non-woven wallcovering with sisal fibres (a range of 25 plains is presented at the end of the pattern book).

The non-woven wallcoverings of Helium are 1 m wide, fire rated, ecological, washable, light resistant. They're easy to install (glue on the back), and are available cut length (no minimum order required). Custom colouring is available on request.
